(By Associated Press)
Mexico City, May 21.—Venustiano Carranza, who fled from this city on May 6 and who took flight into the mountains of Puebla, following a battle near Huamantla, was killed at 1 o'clock Thursday morning at Tlaxcalantongo, according to official announcement here. Carranza's companions, whose names are not as yet known, are declared to have shared his fate. The attack which resulted in the death of the President was led by Gen. Herrero, it is said. General Herrero belonged to forces commanded by Gen. Mariel who accompanied Carranza in his flight from this city but who last week deserted Carranza and joined the revolutionists.

The Men Who are Doing the Real Work on the Bridge

Here are the men who are doing an important bit in connection with the Memorial Bridge that will span the Piscataqua connecting Maine and New Hampshire.

This crew has been engaged since January 2 making soundings and wash borings on the proposed site of the structure and have worked in all kinds of weather and will tell you that it has been some experience as well as a tough job, especially during the month of March when the ice flow made the work extremely hazardous.

The men were obliged to watch out continually for drifting ice and the action of the barges caused by the swift changing tides.

During January the barges were forced from their moorings and swept up river nearly crashing into the Portsmouth and Kittery bridge. The quick arrival of the tug M. Mitchell Davis prevented a collision and got the barges back in place after the loss of four anchors. This happened in the morning before the men reported for work.

This crew have worked in water from one foot deep on the shore to seventy-five feet in the channel. The drilling and soundings have been made from two barges hooked up together with a space in the center for drilling etc.

At present they are using the navy yard anchor barge and arctic well borer to make certain of good foundations for the piers and abutments.

These men are from the Public Works Department of the navy yard in charge of C. A. Gerry and working under the supervision of Commander E. H. Brownell of the Navy Civil Engineer Corps.

The crew is composed of C. A. Gerry, E. W. Stone, W. H. Priddham, J. L. Emery, W. C. McPherson, C. W. Spilney, E. H. Hallbrick, J. H. Renner, H. H. Holmes, E. M. Barry, William Donlin, W. S. Knight. The last three named are not in the group picture.

PEPPERRELL COVE. Pepperrell Cove, May 22.—We are nearing Memorial Day, and our thoughts are both of the past and the future, and we realize we are a line between the two. On a soldier's grave in France one may read: "For your tomorrow they gave their today." The greatness of this epoch which ought to be on the grave of every soldier who fought in all the wars of the Republic is two fold. It is a memorial to the dead, an inspiration to the living. Let this meaning not terminate with the day. The meaning of this day should not be like the song of the unadorned savage, the mere rehearsal of a warrior's achievements. In admiring his virtues that have rendered their tenth like Josiah hounded in Judea and Jerusalem, not offer idle adulation to the memory of the honored dead, but to imitate in the practice all their virtues. We are always reminded of "John" on Memorial day and we recall with our friend, Gen. Horace Porter, "hold of him at the annual dinner of the Lincoln Club in Chicago a few years ago, he said in part: "We did not bury him in a Roman bathhouse in a down St. Paul, nor in an historical Westminster Abbey, we gave him a better sepulture when we laid him at rest in the soil his blood had saved. That tomb will so forever the Mecca of all American citizens. Future ages will pass it and end the inscription on his portal and rays and practice of a reckoned and regenerated people, will from that grave as his own from holy places, points out even to the angels a heaven, where rest the ashes of him who had reached the highest plane of earthly glory, covering the earth with his renown. We shall never meet him again, until he stands with an answer to his name at the roll call when the great of earth are summoned to the last great reveille. Till then, farewell, gentle of spirits, noble of all hearts, liberator of a nation, savior of the republic, martyr whose sepulchre is in the human hearts, you have handed down to posterity, the richest legacy, which man can give to man, the memory of a great name, the inheritance of a great example. We believe Lincoln received and welcomed that distinguished citizen of this generation, "Theodore" Roosevelt, into the happy mansion of the just, a soul congenial with those of other departed heroes, merit alike our esteem and our gratitude. We read that the corpse of Caesar having been brought into the Forum of the then metropolis of the world, Antony holding up the Dictator's garment, addressed the Roman people. "You well know," said he, "this mantle remember the first time Caesar put it on. It was on the day he overcame the Nevil. If you have tears to shed, prepare to shed them now." With equal propriety, we can say, we knew when Roosevelt first put on the mantle of fame, it was in his advance on Sandago. If we have tears to shed prepare to shed them now. Roosevelt is no more. No longer shall he, like the eastern sun illuminate the world, no longer give counsel to the nation, if you have tears to shed prepare to shed them now. But they are not tears of sorrow, but of joy, that shed such a man in our own generation. But the influence of such a man belongs to all generations, and would bud and blossom from age to age. The example of the dead are no less powerful than those of the living. Caesar, some say, caused the world war. You know the story of the student of Harvard, who wrote an article that Rome still rules the world, on being questioned by the professor said Rome taught the world that discipline rules the world, as long as discipline rules the world Rome rules the world. Roosevelt, like Joan of Arc, believed in the people, the greatest miracle Joan of Arc did was to arouse the French people to become a nation. Among the great things Roosevelt did was to teach the American people that they must become 100 per cent American, or we will meet the fate of Greece and Rome.

SHOT IN SLEEP PROVES FATAL. St. Albans, Vt., May 21.—Oliver Lovely, who was shot while asleep at his home early in the morning of April 20, died at the St. Albans hospital last night. He was 60 years of age. In a statement to officers, Lovely said that he woke up about 12:45 a. m. with a choking sensation and discovered a bullet wound in his neck. He said he had no glimpse of his assailant. The theory of the attempted robbery was advanced, but later Mrs. Kate Ivers, housekeeper for Lovely, admitted, according to the officers, that she shot him because he had told her that he was about to leave town and that he did not intend to take her with him. She has been held on an assault charge.

HOUSE ADOPTS THE PEACE RESOLUTION. Washington, May 21.—The Senate resolution repealing the resolution of Congress declaring a state of war with Germany and Austria, was passed today by the House and now goes to the President who is expected to veto it. The vote was for the resolution 225 to 139 and it was along party lines other than 19 democrats joined with the republicans and two republicans with the democrats. Kelley of Michigan and Fuller of Massachusetts, who opposed the measure. The size of the vote and that in the Senate shows no hope of being able to pass it over the President's veto.

The Stove that Cooks 9,000,000 Meals a Day

Three million kitchens with their daily three square meals. Meals that are cooked without the drudgery of kindling, coal hods, ashes and soot—cooked in kitchens that are cool, clean and comfortable.

The New Perfection Oil Cook Stove gives you that kind of kitchen comfort. It gives you controlled heat for any kind of cooking. A turn of the handle supplies the high, white-tipped blue flame—the hottest flame for fast cooking—or a low, even flame for slow boiling or simmering. The long, blue chimney drives the heat directly against the utensil.

The ovens in these stoves are scientifically constructed to circulate fresh, hot air around the food, driving out the steam and maintaining an intense, even heat.

For your further convenience—the New Perfection Water Heaters furnish hot running water at a very low cost. They are adjusted to thousands of water systems the country over. New Perfection Oil Cook Stoves, and New Perfection Water Heaters are sold by dealers everywhere.

A Rather Discouraging Prospect.

A year and half after the close of the war David A. Ellis, a director of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and chairman of its special committee on the fuel situation, tells that body that New England next fall will face the most critical fuel situation in its history. He says the shortage will be due in great measure to the fact that European buyers are offering almost any price for American coal at tidewater points, and that if domestic users are to procure adequate supplies they must match the prices offered by the Europeans. Mr. Ellis added that unless the President places an embargo upon coal exports the only relief will be found in increased shipments into New England by rail. Usually a large part of New England's coal supply is brought by water, but Mr. Ellis is of the opinion that under present conditions there will be grievous disappointment if that source is relied upon this year.

In view of what New England has undergone in the last few years in connection with the fuel situation, this is unexpected and unwelcome talk from one who may be supposed to know exactly what he is talking about. Mr. Ellis was chairman of the Boston Coal Committee during the war and his experience and knowledge of the subject lend weight to his statements.

And one thing that he says should set the people to thinking. "This is that the situation before next winter will be very trying, unless the President places an embargo upon coal exports." It is clear that he believes such a step would relieve the situation promptly, and there is no reason to doubt that he is right.

And why should there not be an embargo on coal if there is a prospect that New England or any other part of the country is to be placed at a serious disadvantage through exportation? Coal is now going to Canada and Europe as if this country were one solid body of coal and the people had nothing to do but to dig and ship it.

If such a shortage is in sight as is predicted by Mr. Ellis it is high time for an embargo or some other means of averting the calamity. The people of New England and other parts of the country have suffered enough from coal shortages and exorbitant prices, which are steadily going higher, and they are entitled to relief.

But instead of relief or the prospect of relief they see coal being shipped to Canada and Europe and are told by a man wholly familiar with all the facts in the case that unless there is a change of program the fuel question is going to be more troublesome this year than ever before.

It is not a pleasant outlook, and if an embargo is the only remedy it ought to be applied. This country has done much to relieve suffering nations beyond the seas and is willing to do more, but the people will properly object to sending abroad what is actually needed at home. They have exercised remarkable patience during the trials of the past, and now have a right to be heard in their own behalf. And if the situation is as depicted and they fail to make themselves heard they will deserve to suffer.

ADMIRAL SIMS SAYS NAVY RESPONDED TO ALL REQUIREMENTS

In Address at War College He Pays Personnel High Compliment

(By Associated Press)

Newport, R. I., May 22.—Admiral William S. Sims, president of the Naval War College, in his address at the graduation of this year's class today, said that during a very few years, "our navy personnel not only responded to all requirements, but exceeded our most sanguine expectations in the endurance, zeal and loyal initiative they displayed" in the world war.

"This applies," he said, "not only to the forces in the war zone, but to the navy in general, and particularly to the very intelligent and skillful handling of the transport service in effective co-operation with the forces abroad."

He urged the members of the class to explain to the officers under their command the great influence which they might exert, "for good or for evil," upon the civil population in war time. "This is a matter," he said, "which concerns the people's confidence or lack of confidence in their military leaders. Much of this influence is exerted through the unofficial opinions expressed by officers to their civilian acquaintances, and by the reflection of these opinions in the press."

"That their opinions had a marked influence upon the conduct of the late war there can be no doubt, nor can there be any doubt that this influence was detrimental. It could hardly have been otherwise, because the great mass of such opinions must necessarily have been based upon incomplete information, and much even of this information was necessarily erroneous."

He said it was natural that some officers should have expressed opinions upon the conduct of the war when questioned by anxious relatives and friends, and that these opinions later appeared in many newspapers, misstated editorially, and in the strategy and conduct of the army and navy, "usually based upon the expressed uncertainty of so-called 'experts'."

"I believe," he went on, "that few people know the extent to which public opinion was formed in this manner, or the extent to which such erroneous opinions actually influenced many of the most important government officials, both in our country and in allied countries."

Admiral Sims said that during the war he received many letters of criticism, from leading members of the government, naval officers and civilians.

"Without exception," he said, "they showed ignorance of the conditions governing the naval campaign."

He added that perhaps the most numerous and insistent of the critics pointed out the gross stupidity of hunting and fighting enemy submarines in the open sea, rather than capturing and destroying their bases or blocking their access thereto. He said such criticisms "were easily refuted," but that the most disquieting feature was a number of letters from civilians "telling that such and such a naval officer had told them of the various fatal mistakes being made in the conduct of the war."

"One regrettable result" of the erroneous information circulated, he said, was the "laying of many millions of insurance against losses at sea, bombardments of coast cities and even the bombing of inland cities."

"One poor mother of a boy serving in the destroyer forces abroad wrote a fearful letter imploring me not to let her beloved son starve to death. She had been informed that the food supply was failing."

Admiral Sims said that all officers should be warned of the danger of such conditions and how it could have been avoided or greatly mitigated. If each officer had realized that he did not have the necessary information to form a just opinion and had the courage when asked questions to say, "I do not know," $1400 and the salary of clerk of payrolls in the same department is raised from $1100 to $1200.

In board of aldermen Monday evening, Alderman Miller was chosen as chairman. Mayor Adams and Aldermen Marvin and Cotton were absent. The committee on streets with the mayor, reported that a stone crusher to crush 1500 tons of stone a day could be purchased for $1300 and that a steam engine of ten horse power, complete, to run the crusher, could be purchased for $1100. The report was accepted. The committee on fire department reported resolutions instructing Portsmouth representatives in the legislature to vote for an amendment to the charter of the Portsmouth Aqueduct Company, to secure a full supply of water constantly for the use of the fire department. Alderman Nowell was authorized to hire the Portsmouth Corner band to play on the morning and evening of July 4 for $110.

"The staunch little steamer Apple-

dora having completed her alterations and been furnished with a new propeller, starts from Boston for Portsmouth this morning, and will, we understand, soon commence her regular trips to and from Appledore Island. She is in command of Captain Edwin M. Barker whose courtesy and attention to his passengers, and sobriety and skill in his vocation, render him a universal favorite with the patrons of the Appledore house last season. We promise to visit the Schooners in her at the first leisure moment and dispose of some of the fish which the Lighthouse Brothers serve up in such excellent shape."

"The meeting called for this evening at the common council room in the city building should be attended by all who are willing to assist in getting up a good celebration of the coming anniversary of American Independence. The only site we had in the city on that day last year was the procession of Gads and Bods; and the prime mover on that occasion is again stirring this year. About two hundred persons have already enrolled themselves as candidates for glory under the banner. The ball is started and only needs to be kept rolling to insure such a celebration as Portsmouth has not enjoyed for many years. Our streets can accommodate a very long procession and every walking or riding member, as soon as the parade is dismissed will be allowed to procure strawberries and cream."

"William Plafsted has concluded to run his street sprinkler another season and is nearly ready to commence. He has hired a place at Ferris's dock at the North End, from which the city father's can't drive him. People who wish the dust laid in front of their residences and places of business can have their wishes fulfilled by laying the dust in the paths of Mr. Plafsted who will roll around and see them."

"A good many people seem really to believe that of all taxation, the income tax is the most odious. But this is a delusion—for the only taxes we know of that are not equally odious to many folks, are other peoples. There was just as much growling and grumbling about taxes ten or twenty years ago and always will be, as now. Taxes, gas bills and water rates are made to be growled over. At a recent parish meeting in this city, the clerk referring to the taxes, stated that they were complained of by many—but, he added, not a bit more than they were twenty or thirty years ago. The cry is in church or state, for mercy sake don't touch us, but put the taxes on our neighbor."

"At the regular meeting of the Philadelphia society on Monday evening after a short rehearsal, a business session was held, at which the following officers were elected for the coming year: J. C. Butler, president; E. P. Davis, vice president; W. S. Isley, Calvin Davis, L. S. Butler, executive committee; L. V. Nowell, secretary and treasurer; Miss Agnes Plummer, pianist; A. Pearson, conductor.

"We observe among the many visitors coming north for the heated term one of Philadelphia's oldest and most respected merchants, John B. Pearson, on a visit to his son-in-law, Major Lewis, commandant of Marines at this naval station."

At a recent parish meeting in this city, the clerk referring to the taxes, stated that they were complained of by many—but, he added, not a bit more than they were twenty or thirty years ago. The cry is in church or state, for mercy sake don't touch us, but put the taxes on our neighbor."

Pearson, conductor.

"We observe among the many visitors coming north for the heated term one of Philadelphia's oldest and most respected merchants, John B. Pearson, on a visit to his son-in-law, Major Lewis, commandant of Marines at this naval station."

"The staunch little steamer Apple-

dora having completed her alterations and been furnished with a new propeller, starts from Boston for Portsmouth this morning, and will, we understand, soon commence her regular trips to and from Appledore Island. She is in command of Captain Edwin M. Barker whose courtesy and attention to his passengers, and sobriety and skill in his vocation, render him a universal favorite with the patrons of the Appledore house last season. We promise to visit the Schooners in her at the first leisure moment and dispose of some of the fish which the Lighthouse Brothers serve up in such excellent shape."

on Friday with specifications and plans for the reconstruction of the big former German liner Osego. The Osego will be converted to a passenger and freight steamship. Capt. OPEN EVENINGSHAVEN PARENT-
TEACHERS HOLD
BUSY MEETINGFlourishing South End Organization Has Over 700
Members.

The Parent-Teachers' Association of the Haven School held its final business meeting of the season Friday evening and although the weather was not pleasant, there was a large throng in attendance and it was a fitting close to the season's work done by this new but bustling organization.

Previous to the social a business meeting of the Association was held. The acknowledgment was made of a substantial check from Benjamin Green, the druggist, who was once a pupil of the Haven school.

The matter of the coming musical entertainment in charge of Mrs. Florence Marshall Walker was discussed and the food sale to be held at the same time on June 7 in High School Assembly Hall. Also the meeting of the Mother's Club on June 8 in the prelate court room, when Mrs. Du Tillay, the school nurse will speak.

Reginald Goldsmith gave a report on the gun house and said it was not known yet whether it belonged to the state of New Hampshire or the United States and the ruling would come before the Judge Advocate General. It was hoped that the matter would soon be decided and that it would be favorable as the Parent-Teachers' Association hopes to obtain it for a community building for the South End.

Following the business session a social time was enjoyed and every one present entered into the spirit of the occasion.

The pupils of the sixth grade of the Haven school were special guests at the gathering, as they will not return again next fall.

The entertainment program consisted of carol solos by Orville Faust, accompanied by his brother, Forrest Faust on the piano; selections by Miss Leona Dodge on the traps, accompanied by Miss Barbara Flanagan and the Haven Trio, Messrs. Paul Conover, Harry Caswell and Charles Gray in popular songs.

The Whipple school orchestra could not arrive early on account of another engagement, but arrived at half past nine and added to the entertainment program by rendering a selection.

Refreshments of ice cream and assorted cake were served and all was nearly eleven o'clock when the party dispersed all having much appreciated the pleasant evening.

The Parent-Teachers' Association of the Haven School, although less than a year old, has 771 members and is the largest association of its kind in New Hampshire.

It plans to be a most helpful organization not only to the school but to the community at the South End. The Association is badly handicapped by having no community hall, but still undaunted it is working untiringly to overcome this and it is hoped by all members and residents of the South End that the old gun house on the Haven school playground can be secured to be used for a community building.

Judge Adams to Speak

At the morning service of the Community Church Association on Sunday Judge Edward H. Adams will give his noted address on "Abraham Lincoln." Sunday School will be held at 11:30 a. m. and the evening service at 7 p. m. The topic of the pastor's address at the evening meeting will be "Inspiration and Life."

Enjoyable Whist Party

The third in the series of whist parties given by the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Atlantic Heights School was given last evening and proved even more successful than the two previous parties. Twelve tables were occupied by the players and whist was enjoyed from eight to ten o'clock. After the play had concluded the favors were awarded as follows: Ladies' first, a pyrex casserole, Mrs. Anderson; ladies' second, a loaded chain, Mrs. Frank Leary; gentlemen's first, a box of handkerchiefs, Mr. Dixon; gentlemen's second, a pair of cuff links, Lewis Hill; consolation, Allen Mitchell.

Following the game harkback tea cream and fancy cookies were on sale and an informal social hour was enjoyed.

The party was in general charge of Mr. and Mrs. George Green, hosted by Mrs. McBride, Misses Paul Holt and Madeline Paul.

Have Labored Well

The volunteer workers at the dormitory building have labored with a will this week and the result of their work is apparent. Each week-night they have been on hand to assist. The carpenter work in the social hall is nearly completed and men have been engaged in staining the woodwork. So rapidly has the work gone on that the first church service will be held in the new building on the first Sunday in June.

Will Present Flag

Storer Relief Corps will present an American Flag to the Atlantic Heights Sunday school on June 5, when the services will be held in the new church building for the first time. It is the custom of the Relief Corps to give a flag when a new Sunday School is started and this will be presented with formal exercises appropriate for the occasion.

Officers Will Meet

A meeting of the officers of the Parent-Teachers' Association will be held at the home of E. W. DeWolfe on Popple Way on Monday evening.

Trustees Elected

At a meeting held on Thursday evening trustees of the Community Church Association were chosen, these being Ashley Congdon, Andrew Henshaw, George F. Moody, J. H. Bickle and J. W. Cannon.

The general election of the board of directors and other officers will be made later.

Miss Helen Tibbey, daughter of Leon Tibbey of Chauncy street, was among the graduates at Queen's College, Canada, the exercises having been held a few days ago.

CLEAN AND SAFE MILK

A safe milk supply is equally of the same vital importance to the community as is

A SAFE WATER SUPPLY

Milk is the cheapest and most perfect food. It is also a good food for infants. It is absolutely known that raw milk may cause typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, sore throat, and tuberculosis.

PERFECTLY PASTEURIZED MILK IS SAFE

It is milk that has been quickly heated to a temperature of 145 degrees—held at that temperature for 30 minutes—then quickly cooled to below 60 degrees—and kept cold. That's all. Science has proven that this process kills the dangerous bacteria that may be in the milk.

The milk is not altered chemically—it is unchanged in food value, digestibility or flavor. That it does make the milk SAFE—and, if kept cold, greatly prolongs its keeping.

Confident that the people of Portsmouth are not less progressive than other cities—many communities demand it exclusively—we have made available for this city an adequate supply of clean, fresh, perfectly Pasteurized Milk.

A modern central creamery, equipped with the latest scientific apparatus for the sanitary, economical handling and refrigerating of milk and cream, and the washing and sterilization of cans and bottles, enables us to offer this superior product at no advanced price—15¢ per qt.

MALDEN LIKE THIS CITY IS DISSATISFIED

Mayer Kimball of Malden doubts the census report for his city. Figures from Washington state that the population is 42,103 only 196 more than the State census five years ago. The assessors' record of last year shows an estimate of 51,474, a total of 2371 more than the official report.

Mayer Kimball has called upon the census director for the district to confer with him in regard to the official count. He has also telegraphed to Congressman Fuller to investigate in Washington.

WHIPPLE SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT

The annual entertainment of the eighth grade of the Whipple school was held on Friday evening at the High school and despite the inclement weather the hall was filled with parents and friends of the scholars. A short French play "La Gaiette des Bois" or the "Kings Cake" a simple dramatization of the old French custom still current in the celebration of the Twelfth night. It was especially well done and reflects great credit on the teachers who coached the cast.

One other short play was given "Our First School Garden" being the title. There was some pretty folk dancing and the school orchestra under the direction of Supervisor of Music, Bill-bruck rendered some good selections.

The following was the program:

MORAN WINS IN LONDON

London, May 21.—Frank Moran of Pittsburgh knocked out Frank Goddard an English heavyweight in the second round of what was to have been a twenty round bout tonight.

DANCERS ENJOYED GOOD MUSIC

There was a good crowd of dancers at Freeman's hall on Friday evening when Manager Dow presented the Williams' Orchestra of Newburyville as an attraction.

BOXING GOSSIP

Johnny Wilson, the new middle-weight champion, will probably defend his title in his first fight on June 2, in an eight round to decision bout at Jack Hudson's big boxing club in Philadelphia. Hudson wanted him to box Angelo Sauter, but as Sauter's hand is injured, Hudson may get some other fighter to box Wilson.

Pete Herman has just been matched for several more ring contests. On June 18 the title holder meets Billy Mawell in a ten round bout at Portland, Oregon, and one week later he faces some bantam in a four rounder at Seattle, Wash., while on July 5, Herman will engage with Carl Tremaine in a ten round bout at the baseball park in Cleveland.

Duffy Kroll, who boxed Battling Grace of Milwaukee at Portland last Monday night, sustained an injury to his cauliflower ear and was obliged to go under the surgeon's knife, but expects to be back in the ring in a few days.

In Montreal, some of the boxing men are believing that Mike McTigue landed one Eugene Dussane with a lucky punch. At that rate not one lucky punch was used, but a bunch of them, because according to authentic accounts, McTigue had Gene outboxed for the entire five rounds the affair lasted.

Frankie Callahan's long chase after Benny Leonard has finally been successful. The lightweight champion has consented to a match with Callahan which will be held at Portland, Oregon on June 21. It will be a ten round no-decision battle. A purse of $30000 has been offered for this match of which Leonard has been guaranteed $20,000 and Callahan $10,000.

BUSY SEASON AT COUNTRY CLUB

The outlook is for the biggest season at the Country Club both from the golf, tennis and trap shooting but the social life as well. At a meeting of the Executive committee on Friday evening five members were elected and this believe the membership close to the membership limit so that a waiting list is probable before the end of the season.

Electric lights are being installed in the club house and locker room and the club house is being refurbished and equipped for a busy social season. The Home committee are now planning for an opening party early in June.

The first golf tournament of the season will be held on Memorial Day (Monday) and it will be a handicap medal play tournament. At the same time a finger tournament to run the entire season for club members will be opened. A suitable prize will be given at the end of the season for this event. The dates for the Police cup between the Intervale Club of Manchester and the local club, will be held in Manchester on July 10th and in this city on August 28. A match with Haverhill is being arranged for later in the season and a combination golf and trap shooting match with Portland Country Club is under way.

The line to the Club is working out well and until further notice the buses will be on Wednesday and Saturday afternoon all leaving the Square at 1.45 and 5.30, leaving the club on the return at 1.55 and 5.45. Sunday's morning trip will be at 9.30 instead of 9 o'clock and the noon trip at one o'clock and last trip at 5.30. The bus runs via Middle street and Middle road.

Two of the tennis courts are in commission and two more will be ready by the last of next week. Tennis gives every indication of having a revival after a slump for the past three years.

Speaker—SECRETARY ALDEN H. CLARK

Subject—"The New Day in India"

Illustrated by the Stereopticon

Mr. Clark deals with a subject of present interest and from personal experience with life and work in India.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Forget the Past and Fight for the Future.

Editor Herald—Kittery Navy Yard, an island surrounded by deep water on all sides, the oldest navy yard in the United States—rich in ancient history and the mainstay of the government in the dark days of the rebellion. "True Blue"—building some of the finest and fastest ships in the world. The Kearsarge, built in 90 days, and the California, one of the fastest ships in her day, beating all the clipper ships around the Horn to "Prisco" under sail. How many people know the feeling a big ship straggling along under sail, a thing of life and beauty and a joy forever? Steam is not in it. How many ships have come and gone from Portsmouth by the Sea, famous the world over for fine ships and fine water to drink. When a boy on board a big ship in the navy, I heard old sailors tell of Portsmouth built ships and the fine water you got to carry to sea. Let's all forget this dispute about where the navy yard is and boost. Let's all get together and do like they do out in Puget Sound and build docks and storehouses. Look at Seattle and the miles of wharves and storehouses they have there, and then go to Tacoma and see the same thing.

If you want ships and railroads you must show them you want them. Help them and fight for them. This is the finest spot on earth for them. Four days from Seattle, four days from England by sea, four days from the West Indies in a fast ship. Deep water in the harbor and all around. What a chance! One could go on for a long time and then not tell all. Let's hold up our battle flags and win the most glorious fight one can win—the right to live and let live, as Elmer Newton used to say.

CONGRESS MAKES NO PLANS FOR ADJOURNMENT

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 22.—No agreement on plans for adjournment or recess of Congress over the political conference of republican senators.

DRAW JURORS FOR SUPERIOR COURT DUTY

The second drawing of jurors for the present term of superior court, now in session at Exeter, was held at the office of City Clerk Clark last evening. So many of the men previously drawn were excused from duty that the present drawing was made necessary.

Those drawn last night were: Ward Two—Albert R. Jenkins, Ver L. Prisco, Andrew O. Caswell, Ward Three—William Casey, Ambrose Melius, Ward Four—George W. Shapleigh, Floyd L. Palmer, Ward Five—Arthur G. Brewster, J. N. Whitcomb.

THE OLD HANDTUB IS WORKING FINE

Vets in Fine Spirits Over the Portland Trip.

It looks as if the old pep is coming back among the veteran firemen. After 3 years of rest from master battles, they have once more taken an interest in the old hand tub. Bureau, and fixed her up for the play at Portland on July 3.

With the new packing and other alterations the old machine is said to be in excellent shape and was shown by the last practice play with much young blood on the brakes. The vets are going to work the pumps again on next Wednesday night when they will take a measurement of the stream and see just what the famous machine is doing. The boys are full of enthusiasm over the trip to the Forest City and the opportunity to go up against the T. W. Priest, a machine they once owned now located at Bath, Maine and known as the Senator Barker.
